43 ARE KILLED IN FIRE ON US CARRIER

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Murray has a larger percentage of young people in it than a regular town in size because of the large number of college students.

We would expect to see some things, therefore, that one normally does not see in a town this size.

But darn it, we have never been able to get used to a public show of affection, or to put it in plain terms, necking.

It sort of shocks us, to see a couple stop for a red light in broad open daylight, go into a clinch, then when the light turns green, drive on as though nothing had happened.

It ruffles our sensibilities, and we can not help it.

We are probably a nut of some kind, but we always felt that was a thing which called for privacy.

Frank C. Horn of Herrick, Illinois was in Murray recently and com-

Tigers Will Meet Class A Team Friday

The Murray High Tigers will be playing in Russellville Friday night for an important game in Class A competition.

The boys are in good condition physically after their game at Hopkinsville last week according to Coach Ty Holland.

They played probably their best game in holding the second-ranked Hopkinsville to two touchdowns and scoring one themselves. The entire team played well with special praise to Wall and Williams in the defensive line, Wilkins and McKee, line backer, Blanton and Bland, defensive backs, and the running of Sammons and Shelton, Holland said.

Russellville has two fine backs in Todd and Snook and a very fine team that is undefeated in its eight games to date. They have defeated Franklin-Simpson and Davies County which are above average football teams.

This game should decide the State District and the WCC Class A championship. Murray has won the district in the last five years. Gametime is 8 o'clock in Russellville. Tickets will be sold for 50¢ students and $1.00 adult at the gate only.

PARIS, Tenn. 87 — About 2,000 Blue and Snow geese are taking a rest at the Tennessee National Wildlife Refuge before continuing their journey to the Gulf Coast.

V. L. Oslids, refuge manager, said the geese normally do not stop but migrate straight to the coast from Canada. He speculated that the large number of young geese in the flock prompted a touch down here.

Discussion Groups Will Be Formed Here

The Murray-Calloway Library is now ready to organize some Great Books Discussion groups. Twelve persons have completed the leader-trainer course and they will be available to lead as many adult groups as are formed. Anyone may take part in a discussion group. No special vocational or educational qualifications are necessary.

The Great Books Foundation is a non-profit educational organization providing adults and children with a means to start or continue a liberal education through reading and discussion of Great Books. Some writers whose works will be read and discussed are Plato, Aristotle, Thoreau, Tolstoy and Freud.

This program is based on the idea that individuals can help one another to learn by reading and discussing some of the best books that have been written during the past two thousand years.

The library will furnish sets of paperback books for those who want to participate. The only requirement to join a Great Books Group is that a person read, in advance, the book to be discussed at each meeting.

You may sign up for this course from October 25, to November 1, by calling the Murray-Calloway County Library (763-228) or by coming by to register. Meet the People Who Think and Join a Great Books Discussion Group, a library spokesman said.

Explosion Rips Through Decks Of USS Oriskany In Tonkin Gulf

By CRYCE MILLER
United Press International
SAIGON 26 — A series of explosions and fire ripped through the 7th Fleet attack carrier USS Oriskany today, killing 43 men and injuring 16 others in the worst Naval tragedy of the Viet Nam War.

The fire, touched off by an explosion in a hanger bay containing photo reconnaissance flares that will burn under almost any conditions, boiled through five decks in the forward section of the 42,000-ton carrier. At least two helicopters were destroyed and a number of jets damaged.

But even as firefighters were still battling the blaze, the Oriskany's two sister carriers on station with her in the Tonkin Gulf off the North Vietnamese coast launched more raids against the Communist nation.

The aircraft carrier tragedy occurred shortly before President Johnson paid a 90-minute visit to Cham Rahn Bay to deal with a few of the 325,000 American men now serving in Viet Nam. Johnson flew back to Manila after his unannounced visit.

No heavy ground fighting was reported today but U.S. Army 1st Air Cavalry Division troops asked by air strikes killed 41 Viet Cong Tuesday in a two-hour running battle 100 miles east of Saigon that ended only when Communist remnants fled into the hills.

South Korean soldiers killed 17 and captured six a few miles to the north.

There was no word on result of today's carrier strikes but bad weather Tuesday hampered American strikes and only 61 missions were flown.

Progress On Attack Case Is Stymied

Miss Harriet Williams and Miss Dianne Chambers went to Mayfield on Tuesday to identify a blonde girl that had been picked up as a possible suspect in the attack on the two Murray girls on Friday night on Olive Extended in Murray.

The two Murray University nursing students said the girl was not the one that had attacked them on Friday night, according to Mrs. Joseph Williams, mother of Harriet. They were called to Mayfield at five p.m. on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams, Harriet's parents, and Mrs. Harriet Chambers of Benton, mother of Dianne, were in Mayfield on Tuesday to identify the girls' purses that had been allegedly taken from them in the attack on Friday night. The purses were found Monday in a culvert between Tri City and Bell City and turned over to the Graves County authorities.

Missing from the girls' purses were their meal tickets, driver's license, and their University student pass.

The girl that was picked up as a suspect by the Graves County authorities was in a 1966 Plymouth two door.

Accidents Are Investigated By Police

The Murray Police Department investigated two traffic accidents yesterday, according to the department records.

At 5:06 p.m. an accident occurred on North 15th Street as Glenn Murray Turner of Murray, driving a 1963 Ford two door, and Wilton L. Kimmons, Route One, Brighton, Tenn., driving a 1963 Pontiac two door, were traveling south on North 15th Street.

Turner slowed down for a car to pull into the curb to park and his car was struck in the rear end by the Kimmons car, according to Patrolman Martin Wells and Sgt. James Brown.

Earlier at 12:01 p.m. Patrolman Wells investigated the collision of South 8th Street, Helen Workman, Cole of Murray Route Two, driving a 1965 Plymouth four door, was headed south on South 8th Street, attempting to leave a parking place. Nancy Irene Baker, 1416 Vine Street, driving a 1961 Pontiac four door hardtop owned by Dale Baker, was attempting to park in a parking space behind the Cole car. The Cole car backed into the Baker car while attempting to leave, according to the Police report.

The Almanac

by United Press International
Today is Wednesday, Oct. 26, the 299th day of 1966 with 66 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter.

The evening star is Saturn. American gospel singer Mahalia Jackson was born on this day in 1912.

On this day in history: In 1825, the Erie Canal, first of the great man-made waterways in the United States, was opened for traffic. In 1920, Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, died after fasting for 75 days in a prison cell demanding independence for Ireland.

In 1942, the Japanese sank the American aircraft carrier Hornet after a savage engagement off the Solomon Islands.

In 1951, Rocky Marciano knocked out former heavyweight champion Joe Louis in Madison Square Garden.

A thought for the day — Norwegian dramatist Henrik Ibsen said: "A community is like a ship; everyone ought to be prepared to take the helm."

Orioles, Bums Stingy With Series Loot

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles and Los Angeles Dodgers were as lavish with money in carrying up their World Series loot as they were stingy with runs in playing for it.

The announcement of the series division by Commissioner William D. Eckert Tuesday revealed that the Orioles cut their record $429,736.96 pool into 34 full shares of $11,682.94 plus 13 other shares varying from $9,580.09 to $300. Each full Oriole share was second only to the all-time high of $12,749 by the 1963 Dodgers.

The Dodgers divided their $386,483.30 losers' pool into 31 full shares of $11,682.94 plus 13 other shares varying from $9,580.09 to $300. Each full Oriole share was second only to the all-time high of $12,749 by the 1963 Dodgers.

In addition to their full shares, the Dodgers voted $5,459.57 to Dick Stuart, acquired on July 5; a half-share to outfielder Dick Schofield, obtained on Sept. 11 and other amounts to part-time members of the team, groundskeepers and others.

The second-place Minnesota Twins and San Francisco Giants each received a team share of $76,737.14. The Twins split their take 49 ways with a full share of $2,255.18 and the Giants divided theirs 45 ways with a full share worth $2,255.40.

Mississippi Makes Ready For Alabama

By United Press International
Mississippi State held one of its stiffest workouts of the season Tuesday in groping with the cold fact that they meet undefeated Alabama Saturday at Tuscaloosa.

"You'll be up against the best team we have faced this year," Coach Paul Davis told his squad Tuesday.

Five players hurt in last week's 19-0 loss to Florida State were on the sidelines for Tuesday's practice but Davis expressed hope all would be ready for the Alabama contest.

Alabama, meanwhile, worked at full speed on goal line offense and defense. Coach Paul Bryant wasn't too pleased with the performance, noting "the offense didn't fire out and didn't have any speed."

In other Southeastern Conference training camps, golden boy Steve Spurrier tried passing in the rain at Gainesville as Florida tried to sharpen its passing attack for Auburn.

Daugherty Not Hurt During Rally

By CURT SYLVESTER

United Press International
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — In the hand of the "Jolly Green Giants," Duffy Daugherty is a little more than a leprechaun.

When his Michigan State Spartans got into one of their mass hand-chapping, jumping, spirit-rousing huddles before a game, it's a miracle Daugherty gets out of the center of things without bodily injury.

But Daugherty, picked as this week's United Press International coach of the week, insists this year's team is smaller—except for 6-foot-7 "bubba" Smith—than the one he had last year.

Last year's squad, dubbed the Jolly Green Giants because of their green and white uniforms and the size of the player, went through its regular season undefeated to seize the mythical national championship.

Down Purdue
After dropping to No. 2 in the nation a week ago, Daugherty's Spartans blasted their toughest Big Ten foe, Purdue, 41-20 last Saturday and staked a claim to their second straight conference title.

The Spartans, who had overpowered five teams, including three in the Big Ten, before meeting Purdue, had the "best first half of the year," according to Daugherty. "We did everything together," he said. "The only danger to the Spartans now lies in the possibility of a let-down against some of the conference's weaker teams while they look forward to their battle against Notre Dame."

Daugherty feels that enthusiasm is the prime ingredient in this year's club.

Smaller Linemen

"This team has a lot of agility," he said. "But our line—except for Smith—is smaller than last year."

"The boys play with great intensity and with great enthusiasm."

"I'd say that's their greatest asset."

Daugherty has one of the finest winning percentages among college coaches today. Now beginning this 13th year as head coach of the Spartans, he has won 79 games while losing only 35 and tying three.

He has had only three losing seasons. Twice he rebounded to have tremendous years. Last year Michigan State wrapped up the No. 1 spot in the final game of the season, beating Notre Dame 12-3. The Spartans face the same Notre Dame team in this season's final game and that Irish twinkle in Duffy Daugherty's eyes says perhaps they'll do it again.

American League, awarded a full share of $1,500.23 to the estate of Charlie Drown, their manager who died on Aug. 10, and another full share to Bob Swift, the coach who became acting manager before being hospitalized and dying on Oct. 17.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, third in the National League, received $1,465.56 per man.

The fourth-place shares were worth $711.99 and $710.53 to the Chicago White Sox and Philadelphia Phillies, respectively, and the fifth-place shares were worth $288.68 and $341.38 to the Cleveland Indians and Atlanta Braves, respectively.

Bobby Bragan, who managed the Braves until Aug. 9, was not included in the Atlanta breakdown.

In our league," Coach Ray Graves warned.

Auburn, however, didn't look much like a winner in setting its defensive plays for the Spurrier series. Coach J. V. Jordan said he was depressed after watching the ease in which Florida best Louisiana State.

"We're not to contain Spurrier if we're going to have any chance to win," Jordan said.

Vanderbilt Coach Jack Green figured Tuesday that his Commodores gave their work cut out for them. Vandy meets Tulane Saturday and Green found himself in the position of having to teach five players new positions and break two others in as starters before game time.

At Baton Rouge, Louisiana State University stressed the kicking game in running through plans for Saturday's clash with Mississippi in Tiger Stadium.

Coach Charles McClinton said the Tigers couldn't afford to have any breakdowns in the kicking game because of the dangerous runbacks of Doug Cunningham.

The University of Mississippi ran through a speedy drill with light contact work.

Dear Abby

This Girl Really Tops the Cake!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A long time ago I was told that if an unmarried girl slept on a piece of wedding cake she would get a husband. Well, Abby, I have slept on a lot of wedding cake instead of eating it, and I'm still not married. Have you any suggestions?

DEAR WORRIED: Yes. Next time, eat the wedding cake and sleep on your stomach.

DEAR ABBY: I am the only gal in an office of 10 men. I do all the secretarial work, bookkeeping, telephone answering, greeting of customers, etc. Needless to say I am very busy.

One of the wives of an employee (he is not an executive) sends all her monthly bills and personal letters to the office with her husband for me to stamp and mail. We have no stamp machine, so I must go to the postoffice for stamps, which I apply and seal myself.

I've offered to buy this man a roll of stamps for his family, but he said they didn't "need" any. The wife doesn't work, plays golf, and has more time than I have. What should I do?

DEAR GRIPED: Tell the presumptuous employee that you are not his private secretary and the stamps are not yours to give away. If that doesn't shame him into discontinuing the chintzy practice, simply refuse his unstamped mail and announce that you are thru chiseling the company's time and postage.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for six years, and we both are from "good families. Recently my suspicions were confirmed about something that is so revolting I can hardly get it down on paper. My own mother is carrying on with my father-in-law! I'm sure my mother-in-law has no idea of what is going on right under her nose, because she continues to include my parents in all her parties and get-togethers.

I don't think my father knows, either. He is used to mother's vivacious, flirty ways, and sees it only as kidding around. Abby, is there any way to break it up? I am NOT guessing. I know! If I should do something, where do I start? My husband is wise to them and is also bewildered.

DEAR NO NAME OR CITY: Ask your husband to tell his father that his "secret love" isn't a secret any more. And you do the same with your vivacious, flirty mother. That's all you can do besides pray.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NEW TEACHER: Send a note home with the child which says, "If you promise not to believe everything your child says happens at school, I'll promise not to believe everything he says happens at home."

How has the world been treating you? Unfold your problems on Dear Abby, Box 99700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 99700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

DISCUSSANT TELESCOPE

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI) — The British government and the University of California are seeking to share the cost of erecting a 150-inch telescope in Australia. Calloway County has a beautiful and functional school. Calloway County High and every person in Murray and Calloway County should make it a point to go out and visit the school.

The school has risen in stature from an educational dead-end with half the teachers holding masters degrees, and a number having 30 hours beyond the masters degree.

Students who attend Calloway County High receive a quality education which prepares them for college work and they can hold their own with students from any other high school in the state.

Cooperative Important To Rural People

Farmer cooperation in North America dates back to colonial days. Farmers helped each other to clear land, erect buildings, and construct roads.

Early cooperatives were formed to import purchased cattle, and agricultural history often refers to husking bees, threshing rings, bull and stallion rings, cheese rings, and other forms of group activity.

As farmers began to produce more products than they could consume, they looked to cooperatives to find a market for them. They also used cooperatives to purchase supplies needed for production.

The development of agricultural cooperation is a story of the farmer's never-ending efforts to better his lot. For 150 years he has been learning to cooperate with his neighbors to their mutual advantage in obtaining services related to farming and farm living.

The history of cooperative activities by U. S. farmers is said to divide itself logically into six periods. The first period, beginning shortly after 1800 and ending about 1870, was one of experimentation; the second, from 1870 to about 1890, resulted from early encouragement by general farm organizations; the third, from 1890 to 1900, saw the rapid organization of business cooperatives; the fourth, from 1900 to 1933, was characterized as orderly commodity marketing; the fifth, from 1933 to 1945, may be described as one emphasizing sound business principles; and the sixth, from 1945 to the present, is characterized by adjustments to profound national and international events affecting agriculture. This last period is marked by growth, diversification, integration, consolidation, and modernization.

Certain principles underlie the cooperative form of business. The three basic underlying principles that distinguish cooperatives from other types of private enterprise business are:

1. Operations at cost. Savings are distributed or allocated in direct proportion to the patronage of each member.
2. Democratic control by members.
3. Limited returns on capital.

Essential to the operating success and effectiveness of any cooperative is the use of sound business practices.

In general practice, farmer cooperatives have been classified into three types on the basis of primary functions performed. These primary functions are set up as marketing, production supply, and business services.

Cooperatives benefit farmers in many ways. The degree or extent of the benefits, however, varies widely among cooperatives handling the same or different commodities. It also is difficult to measure or evaluate exactly the intangible benefits farmers derive from operation of cooperatives, such as those resulting from their competitive effect on price levels or margins, service, quality, and business performance. These benefits all farmers whether or not they are members of cooperatives.

The main benefits derived from cooperatives are economic in that they improve the net income of farmers. Estimates by Farmer Cooperative Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, indicate that marketing, production supply, and related business service cooperatives realize net margins or savings of about $50 million to $400 million a year.

Cooperatives increase the net income of farmers in the following ways:

Expediting selling farm products and buying farm supplies, exerting bargaining and purchasing power, distributing quality production supplies, providing needed services, encouraging production and maintenance of quality products, improving farm efficiency, and operating at cost—after distributing net proceeds above operating expenses to member-patrons.

Cooperatives also provide by-product benefits of a noneconomic or social nature. By helping farmers—especially family-type operators—do a better and more profitable job of farming, cooperatives aid in developing stronger rural communities.

Cooperatives often have the largest payrolls and are the biggest taxpayers in town. Moreover, their business activities help maintain and support various service and financial institutions in local communities.

The benefit of cooperation, however, extend to groups other than those in agriculture. Cooperatives have encouraged the use of democratic principles in political, social, and economic activities.

Cooperatives restrain monopolistic practices and thus contribute to overall marketing efficiency.

Finally, cooperatives provide leadership for agriculture and business in strengthening our relationships with foreign countries. They do this by sharing information on the organization and operation of the cooperative form of business enterprise with leaders in developing countries. In this way, they help to establish and maintain free and democratic institutions in these countries.

October Is Coop Month In Kentucky

October is "Cooperative Month" in Kentucky, as designated by Governor Edward T. Breathitt and many mayors and county judges throughout the Commonwealth. Through the sponsorship of the October Cooperative Month Steering Committee, working with co-ops and other organizations, the promotion calls attention to an important phase of business.

Says Steering Committee Chairman Maquil Vinson, Frankfort, "Twelve months of every year, cooperative help improve the quality of living of farmer-producers and consumers all over the United States."

"It is fitting," he said, "that one month of the year—October—be set aside for communities, states, federal agencies and departments, and farm groups and organizations to join together in special recognition

Telephones Serve Farm People Here

The West Kentucky Rural Telephone Coop. was founded July 18, 1951, because telephone service in this area was not adequate. This cooperative is in the business of providing telephone service in this area at reasonable rates to farmers and rural families.

The Rural Electrification Administration in Washington has had a vital role in the establishment of this cooperative. The first loan from REA was for $1,465.09. With this money, 61 miles of line were constructed to bring telephones to 1,243 subscribers. To date through subsequent loans, $5,848,000 has been borrowed from REA. To date $414,244 has been repaid on the principal of these loans and $404,008 in interest. Also, to serve as a cushion against some unforeseen future emergency, $25,000 has been repaid ahead of schedule. The Cooperative now serves 7,878 subscribers with 2,568 miles of line.

The first exchange was put into service on December 17, 1955. Since this time service has been upgraded to one, two and four party service in all 17 exchanges, thereby eliminating all eight party lines in the rural areas. The five cooperative exchanges serving Calloway County people are Hazel, Hartin, Kirksey, Lynn Grove and New Concord. The Coop Manager is P. L. Pinks, Mayfield, and local members of the Board of Directors are Helman Darnell, Coldwater, and Lester Hill, New Providence.

Through the many cooperatives, the benefits of electricity and telephone service are enjoyed by millions of people in rural areas.

of cooperatives and the place they hold in our free enterprise system. This is the reason we're promoting "Cooperative Month" in Kentucky. Several dozen states are expected to participate in observing "Cooperative Month" this year.

Local Co-op In Thirtieth Year Here

The Calloway County Soil Improvement Association, from a small beginning in 1936, soon became a major farm purchasing cooperative making available to farmer members what they needed in seeds, feeds, fertilizer, farm supplies and in feed-grinding and mixing service.

This cooperative is, and has been from its beginning, owned and operated by its member patrons. It is operated by an elected board of directors and a hired manager, W. R. Perry, a former teacher of Vocational Agriculture, is Manager and Secretary-Treasurer and has served in that capacity for the past 30 years. Members of the Board of Directors are Ellis R. Paschall, Chairman, B. W. Edwards, Honorary Chairman, Dan Shipley, Vice Chairman, A. O. Cochran, Royal Parker, James Belcher, Joe P. Coleman, Perry Harrison, Marvin Parks, and H. B. Fulton.

The "Farmer's Co-op", as it is commonly called, operates on revolving capital stock ($500,000) which is owned by the farmers on the basis of their volume of patronage. Stock certificates are called in the discretion of the Board of Directors. Patronage dividends are distributed to farmer patrons annually.

The Cooperative has 10 full-time employees and two part-time University Student employees.

Governor Speaks For Cooperative

As Governor of the Commonwealth, I am pleased to call attention to the approaching 175th anniversary of Kentucky, to be celebrated in 1967, and to a technique for rural community improvement and advancement which was particularly notable in the early history of our State. Cooperation in our early days was paramount in clearing the land, opening the frontier, and establishing new settlements.

Today, a similar type of cooperation, designed to deal with the problems of a more complex modern era, is evident in Kentucky's cooperative associations which were established to solve mutual problems for our farmers and rural citizens.

As Governor of the Commonwealth, I have proclaimed October as "Cooperative Month" for the purpose of recognizing the contributions of cooperatives to the economic, social, and spiritual growth of Kentucky and our nation. Cooperatives have demonstrated the fact that they are a major tool for improving farm and rural living and they continue to provide great assistance for State and Federal educational, promotional, research, and service agencies. These cooperatives contribute immeasurably to the greatness of our State through the admirable system of cooperative enterprises that are at work in almost all counties.

As Governor, I take a great deal of pride in the fact that we have ninety-one rural cooperatives headquartered in the State, serving all sections of the State, and working together to make a major contribution to the economy. Through hard work, members of these cooperatives supply needed production goods and credit, markets for their products, and electrical power and telephone service. All Kentuckians should fully appreciate the significance of these associations and the historic role that this kind of cooperation has played in developing the State's economy. As Governor, I extend my congratulations to the thousands of cooperative members and their leaders for their determined effort to develop our economy and to promote the general welfare.

THE GOVERNORS PROCLAMATION

"October is Cooperative Month" TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:

WHEREAS, the economic, social, and spiritual growth of America is rooted in the philosophy that cooperation is essential to progress; and

WHEREAS, cooperative associations play a major role in the economic development of the Commonwealth by promoting cooperation in providing production, purchasing, marketing, and a great variety of other services; and

WHEREAS, thousands of Kentucky's farm families have improved a better way of life by proved their economic position and obtained a better way of life by cooperation; and

WHEREAS, there are presently ninety-one rural cooperatives with headquarters in Kentucky benefiting all segments of the economy; and

WHEREAS, progressive democratic cooperatives are essential to Kentucky's continued agricultural and rural development;

NOW, THEREFORE, I EDWARD T. BREATHITT, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do hereby designate the month of October, 1966 as and call upon the people of our State to learn of the notable contributions that these associations make to the Commonwealth.

Done at Frankfort, Kentucky, this 26th day of September in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and sixty-six, and in the year of the Commonwealth, the one hundred and seventy-fifth.

/s/ Edward T. Breathitt, Governor
Thelma L. Skovall, Secretary of State

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

NO VICTORY GOAL

With more than 300,000 fighting men stationed in Viet Nam and with the conflict costing billions of dollars, the American people have a right to expect that the Johnson administration will pursue the struggle to a victorious conclusion.

Despite the existence of this right, the U. S. public has not received proper assurances from Mr. Johnson that this is what he intends to do. And some of the news concerning the patterns of warfare in Viet Nam contain disturbing evidence that victory over the communists is not the administration's goal despite the colossal American investment in men and national treasure.

To be specific, foreign correspondents report that the North Vietnamese recently have received large numbers of new, high-performance MIG-21 fighters from the Soviet Union, together with numbers of trained pilots and adequate supplies of jet fuel. The reported doubling of the number of modern MIGs in communist hands is very alarming. American airmen in the skies over North Viet Nam already face formidable threats in the form of surface-to-air missiles (SAMs) and tremendous concentrations of conventional anti-aircraft guns. If the communists have access to many new interceptor aircraft, American casualties are likely to rise sharply in the months ahead. There already have been reports of markedly increased aerial contacts with the MIGs.

What is especially disarming in connection with these reports is the news that U. S. Navy and Air Force commanders are denied permission to attack the airfields in North Viet Nam on which the MIGs are based. It seems that these fields remain in the category of privileged sanctuary for the communist enemy.

The United States cannot afford to grant such privileged sanctuaries to the enemy. As September came to an end, U. S. casualties soared to a new weekly high, with 870 men killed, wounded or missing. The death toll of American dead in the Viet Nam war reached 6,400 by Sept. 17. The Americans who have given their lives or suffered wounds have gone all out for their country. They have not stunk themselves in cowardice or sacrifice. Consider the air war alone. Jet pilots taking off from carriers or airfields ashore risk their lives every time they penetrate enemy air space. A missile or anti-aircraft shell can knock them from the skies, and this frequently happens. Such sacrifice, such heroism, is justified when the civilian leaders in charge are as determined to achieve victory as are the men in the cockpits of the aircraft.

But the Johnson administration has not shown equal determination. Mr. Johnson and Secretary of Defense McNamara have not ordered destruction of the most vital North Vietnamese targets. The Red airfields are still intact. The cities of North Viet Nam are virtually immune from retaliation, though communist terrorists are at work in South Viet Nam's cities. The North Vietnamese system of canals, on which the agriculture life of the communist land depends, has not been struck by U. S. bombers. Mr. McNamara has not given the word—that's why.

Many observers of the war point out that U. S. airmen are being asked to risk their lives in attacks on radar targets—barracks, barges, supply trains, and other objects of lesser importance. Certainly, this isn't the traditional American way to fight a war. In the past, the U. S. always has struck for the enemy's vital, hitting at his basic capacity to carry on the war. Yet in Viet Nam the lives of Americans are being expended in attacks on the targets of North Viet Nam's war-making capabilities. Oil facilities at Haiphong have been struck, but the port—vital to the Reds—has not been blockaded. And now the Reds are dispersing their fuel storage facilities.

The truth is that this kind of fringe warfare could continue forever, at terrific cost in American lives. It is a form of warfare that is grossly unfair to the able young Americans who fly the jets. If they are to risk their lives, they should know that the powers that be in Washington are backing them 100 per cent—determined to smash the enemy and cripple his will to wage a communist war of aggression. The failure of the Johnson administration to pursue a victory goal is a terribly costly failure—costly in terms of American lives. It is one of the gravest issues that should be carefully scrutinized by the voters as they make their decisions for a new Congress.

43 KILLED . . .

Pan Kien Sun, a permanent speaker of the 117-member body that is waging a consultation in hope of returning South Viet Nam to civilian rule.

There was no new word on progress of the South Vietnamese troops who opened what spokesman called their biggest operation of the war in the Mekong Delta Monday night. In the first few hours they killed a dozen Viet Cong and rescued 18 prisoners, one a Roman Catholic nun, chained together in cages.

The 1st Air Cavalry battle started when troops spotted a Communist company of about 150 men near Pan Thien. They sped to the attack and called in American strike aircraft, which cut the enemy escape routes with bombs, rockets and napalm.

A U.S. H13 helicopter whirling in over the battle area was shot down, injuring two crewmen who were promptly rescued.

The Americans who suffered on-battle casualties in the two-hour battle, captured 12 Communist and eight weapons.

Bad weather continued to hamper U.S. air raids against North Viet Nam but Navy planes, which were weathered in Monday, returned to the attack Tuesday and hit trucks and barges along the southern peninsula. U.S. planes destroyed six barges in the area.

FLOOD HIT ALGERIA

ALGERS 26—The government Tuesday announced floods in Western Algeria left 97 dead and 15,900 homeless earlier this month. Three other persons are missing and 12 were injured in the raging waters, which caused some $2.5 million in damage.

PARIS 26—The French government announced its "Money and Medals Service" is embossing Brigitte Bardot on a special bronze medal. It will be sold to tourists who wish to take a bit of Paris home with them next year.
